

Hope went to the Rainbow Bridge on November 18, 2002.

She lost her battle with cancer. Even though she was only with me for 2 years, it still meant more to me than I can put into words. I have BREW to thank for giving us both this extraordinary time together. I will miss her more than I ever thought possible. Thank you to BREW for all that you do for poor little stray beagles like Hope.

This is the last picture that was taken of her. It was taken in September, 2002 and I think it truly reflects her wonderful spirit.
